CASTRO APPOINTED PRESIDENT OF CUBA

2 December 1976 – Marking the Cuban Revolution's victory, Fidel Alejandro Castro Ruz was appointed President of Cuba, from here on establishing the nation as a one-party communist state.

Moving forward, the Cuban Communist Party will be adopting a socialist constitution and the nation will continue to face a socialist reform where businesses will be nationalised under the philosophy of Castro's Soviet model.

CASTRO ATTACKS ★★★ THE MONCADA BARRACKS

26 July 1956 – Fidel Castro joins forces with Ernesto "Che" Guevara to overthrow Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista. Today their forces attacked Moncada barracks on Santiago de Cuba, an aggression that is believed to be a cry to rally supporters and loyal communists to join the revolution.

The attack backfired, resulting in arrest. Castro has been captured and sentenced to 15 years of prison with his group of revolutionary leaders.

ALL US-OWNED BUSINESSES NOW NATIONALISED

6 August 1960 – In pursuit of his Soviet model, Prime Minister Fidel Castro confiscates all US assets in Cuba by nationalising all US-owned businesses with an action plan to establish collective farming, under the mission for economic and agricultural reform.

This new law authorises the President and Prime Minister of Cuba to nationalise US properties in a Joint Resolution as a mutually beneficial resolution.
